VERSE

When morning breaks, so will we
You fall away, I'll stay
I'll let you go I know it's right
But struggle not to hold too tight

I lay awake and watch you sleep
Wonder where you'll be
I'll let you go and if it's right
You'll return to me

CLIMB

When you see no more footprints to follow
Only your own are left to retrace
You can return to find me tomorrow
Back to this place
Back to this place

CHORUS

It's easy to come back, steer your car this way
You don't need no road map, you used to drive it every day
You know where the key is, over the door jam
Feel in the dark with your hands
It's easy to come back, you know where I am

VERSE

My days and nights are still the same
But without you it's all changed
I watch the leaves fall away
And wonder where you are today

I'm rooted deep, just like the oak
Standing in our own backyard
But since you're gone I have bowed
And slowly dropped my guard

[CLIMB]

[CHORUS]
